HELD ON FIRST DEGREE MURDER

HUGH ARMSTRONG AND ROY MARTIN TO BE TRIED AT ONCE

L. HALLOWELL RELEASED

Will be Held as a Witness for the State—State to Ask for the Death Penalty

Special to Democrat-Forum.

Casper, Wyo., Nov. 6.—Lawson Hallowell was released in connection with the murder here and will be held as a witness by the state. Hallowell was employed by R. E. Martin in his plumbing shop under whose shop the liquor was stored and as far as it is known he stayed in the Martin house during the gun fight, taking no active part.

Hugh Armstrong, as he is known here, will be arraigned next Monday morning in the district court for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Tom Majors and the death penalty will be asked by the state in the trial this month. The district judge agreed to convene court immediately and special prosecutors wper appointed the same day as the killing, otherwise Armstrong probably would have been lynched.

The defense will probably try to show that Majors failed to make known his identity as an officer and that he shot first. C. D. Murane, former judge of the Alaska federal court, has been retained to defend Armstrong. Armstrong's father, William Armstrong, of Maryville, Mo., is expected in Casper in the morning.

The following is from the Casper, Wyo., Herald of Tuesday's issue, November 4, about the arrest of Roy E. Martin, Hugh Armstrong and Lawson Hallowell, former Maryville residents, in that city Sunday, Martin and Armstrong on a charge of murder.

Illicit traffic in liquor and the efforts of officers here to suppress it took a ghastly toll early Sunday morning, resulting in the death of Tom Majors, deputy sheriff, and the wounding of two others, George McKenzie and Roy E. Martin. The shooting occurred at the rear of the Martin home on East Second street, where the alleged contraband was lying guarded for safekeeping. The shooting came when the raiding officers commanded two men who were guarding the whisky, valued at $25,000, to throw up their hands, and received similar orders from the guards.

George McKenzie, one of the victims of the affray, is jailer at the county jail, and was pressed into raiding service when the sheriff's office learned that an effort was to be made to move the contraband from the Martin home. He was standing by the side of Majors when he fell dead with the loads of two shotgun shells in his head and body. McKenzie's wounds consist of a badly lacerated shoulder, from which he bled so freely that it was reported impossible to perform an operation to remove the bits of metal to prevent poisoning of the system, until late yesterday afternoon. He will be operated on again today if he is able to stand it.

Martin, the third victim of the raid, is in a critical condition at a local hospital, suffering from a badly lacerated hand and three bullet holes in the body. It is stated that the body wounds are superfluous, but that three bullets entered his torso within the space of a dollar.

The story of the raid is disconnected to the extent that many versions have been spread about the shooting and the developments that led up to it.

After being advised that a move was on foot to move the cases of liquor, Sheriff Royce prepared a raiding party and went to the Martin home on East Second street. After arriving there they took exceptional precaution to prevent the escape of any men who might be on the premises connected with the cache.

The peculiar shape of the buildings and the way they are connected up permitted the officers to place guards so that nearly every avenue of escape would be guarded. Sheriff Royce then, taking McKenzie and Majors with him, the two latter men to stand guard, took the risk and pushed into the building where the whisky was cached.

Kilgore followed by another avenue, and that left Roberts and Easton guarding on the outside. At this time Martin and Armstrong appeared with shotguns, put in their appearance on the scene, coming from an avenue, leading to the belief had been "tipped off" and were in ambush when the officers arrived on the scene.

When they were seen approaching the door of the garage Tom Majors commanded them to throw up their hands. This brought the response from Armstrong:

"Go to hell. Throw up your own hands." The officers and the bootleggers both held the drop on each other momentarily, while again and again Majors is said to have commanded Armstrong and Martin to throw up their hands, finally stating, "We are officers."

Armstrong was backing away and, according to the statement of Roberts, was apparently backing up to attempt escape. With the final command of Majors to throw up his hands, Armstrong is said to have started firing from a 12-guage automatic shotgun. The first shot hit Majors in the hand and the second in the face, virtually shooting the deputy's head off.

With that Martin started to fire and succeded in firing one shot, which hit McKenzie in the shoulder. Roberts cut short further efforts on his part by shooting the gun out of his hand and then shooting three times in the body.

While Roberts was disabling Martin, Armstrong made a run for the house and succeeded in getting in the door. A shot by Roberts crashed through the door, taking out the glass, and barely grazed the fugitive.

Kilgore and Roberts then broke in the door through which Armstrong had disappeared and caught him and Lawson Hollowell, a plumber, who was residing at the Martin home. When the officers saw that the men were unarmed they put their guns away and started to administer a beating, from which they desisted only at the command of Sheriff Royce, who did not know that Majors was hit.

In the meantime, Martin had made a run for it, and went from house to house in the neighborhood, attempting to gain entrance, screaming for the residents to cal the police, that he had been shot and that his family was in danger.

Police officers responded to the call, and after picking up his trail found that he had run for the state hospital for attention. Both Majors and McKenzie were rushed to the hospital, but death had come instantly to Majors. When McKenzie was taken to the institution it was thought that his injuries were just superfluous, but a later examination showed that he was in a critical condition as a result of heavy loss of blood.

The arrest of Charles Moore was then ordered and he is now in solitary confinement on a first degree murder charge.

"Tom Majors came to his death from bullet wounds inflicted by Hugh Armstrong," is in substance the finding of the coroner's jury at the inquest, which was held yesterday afternoon. The verdict was rendered almost immediately after the jurors had heard the evidence introduced by witnesses.

Formal preliminary hearings for Hugh B. Armstrong and Roy E. Martin were arranged yesterday morning, but both men waived preliminary rights, plead not guilty and were bound over for trial.

With arrangements being rushed, it is probable that the trial, which involves one of the worst murders in the history of the county, will be held this month, or as soon as the protection of all interests can warrant.

WILL HONOR "GOLD STAR" HEROES

CEREMONY TO BE PUBLIC

Is Gift and Work of the Maryville Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution

The formal dedication of the "memorial Avenue of Trees" to be planted on the campus of the State Teachers College by the Maryville chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in honor of Nodaway county's "gold star" heroes will take place at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The anniversary of the signing of the armistice was set as the most fitting day to pay homage to these men who gave their lives for their country.

The ceremony will be held on the campus west of the grove of fir trees on the west side of the building. Forty-two sugar maple trees, in memory of the forty-two soldiers, will be planted, the avenue beginning at the north end of the osage hedge and extending east to the fir trees.

Two trees will be planted now, marking the ends of the avenue. The ground is not at its best for planting this season and it will be prepared this winter under the direction of J. R. Brink of the college, ready for the setting out of the trees at the proper time in the spring.

The D. A. R. chapter is doing this memorial work unaided and because of the number of members and amount of funds it is impossible to do all at once. In addition to the trees, a column will be erected at each end of the avenue to which will be affixed a bronze tablet, bearing the individual names of the dead heroes. This will probably not come until some time next year. The avenue will at all times be kept in perfect condition by the D. A. R., and other plans for its beautification will be carried out in the future as the chapter has the means to do so.

A special invitation has been issued to the families of the men in whose honor the ceremony is held and the entire public is invited to be present.

The program given will be very simple and befitting such a dedication. The invocation will be given by Dr. Gilbert S. Cox of the First Methodist church, followed by a short address by Mrs. Will J. Montgomery, regent of the D. A. R. chapter. Dr. S. A. Coile of the First Presbyterian church will dedicate the trees. Dr. Coile had two sons in the service and this fact was considered in asking him to take this part. President Richardson will then make the formal presentation of the college ground for the avenue and his talk will be followed by an address by Dr. Will Wallis, Jr., who speaks for the men in service. Dr. Wallis held the rank of captain and was in service overseas for many months in the medical corps and is one of the officers of the American Legion.

The Nodaway couty men only are included in the number, and there are forty-two names. This list does not include non-resident men who enlisted from this county, only those whose home was here and whose family are residents. The names are as follows: William James Brady, Conception; Frank C. Bradley, Ravenwood; Walter Lonzo Bradley, Elmo; Tony William Bears, Clearmont; Floyd Virgil Coulter, Clearmont; Chester Martin Crain, Barnard; Rolla A. Dicks, Burlington Junction; Alvin Marion Dunn, Barnard; William B. Flannigan, Conception Junction; Dale Frankum, Quitman; Dale Cecil Gates, Elmo; James Edward Gray, Maryville; Arthur T. Graves, Quitman; Carl Richard Oglesby, Ravenwood; Warren W. Reaksecker, Skidmore; Julius Strueby, Jr., Conception; Joseph B. Schwebach, Clyde; Henry F. Stewart, Maryville; James F. Smith, Maryville; Emmett Ripley, Graham; Glen Dee Ulmer, Hopkins; Virgil A. Wiles, Maryville; William J. Dowis, Sheridan; Ira J. McCullum, Sheridan; J. B. Farnan, Conception; James Harvey Hughes, Skidmore; Ray David, Maryville; David Parmlee, Hopkins; Verne Heflin, Parnell; Roy Houchins, Hopkins; Roy David Hunterson, Ravenwood; Francis M. Johnson, Quitman; Carl C. Killion, Parnell; John P. Kuntzman, Skidmore; Roy Hartman Kent, Graham; James William Keith, Clearmont; Harry W. Lapsley, Burlington Junction; Russell C. Laughlin, Guilford; Alfred Clemmons Meyer, Clyde; John James McGarry, Bedison; Otto C. Mowry, Graham; Robert O'Howell, Barnard.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church wil hold a rummage sale in the Zook building on North Main, Friday, Nov. 7th.

HEARING ROAD CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT TODAY

Jury to Assess Value of Land if Road is Practicable and Public Necessity

The road case of Robert Lyle, being on an appeal from the county court, was up in circuit court today before Judge Dawson. The question of the practicability and public neccesity of the road was being determined by the court, and if he finds the road should be established and widened, the jury must assess the value of the land and any other damages incurred by appropriating land for this purpose. The jury is composed of Frank Tarpley, H. P. Johnson, I. S. Dickerson, Fred Wray, James McGinnis, Charles Talbott, W. R. Hughes, John Lawrence, James Merrigan, J. B. Horton, Dave Neidel and J. L. Partridge.

At a late hour this afternoon the court had made no decision as to the practicability and public necessity of the road. A number of witnesses, including the members of the county court and land owners of that community, testified before the court of the necessity of widening the road.

ASKS DIVISION OF FARM INCREASE

Suit to Construe Hugh Severs' Will Filed Today in Circuit Clerk's Office

A suit to construe the will of Hugh M. Severs, who died recently at Elmo, was filed in the circuit clerk's office this afternoon. The title of the suit is Hattie E. Younger, Floyd A. Younger, Fern Horn, Bertha Younger, Hugh Younger against Charles W. Severs, Jessie Severs, Margaret Verlyn Severs and R. H. Lamb, executor of the Severs estate. Ellis G. Cook is the attorney for the plaintiff.

The will was written in January, 1908, and 156 acres of land valued at $90 an acre was left to a son, Charles W. Severs, and an 80-acre farm valued at $60 an acre to Hattie E. Younger, with the provision that one-half of the difference in the value of the two farms be paid by Charles W. Severs to Hattie E. Younger. These two farms at the death of Mr. Severs, were worth $175 and $100, respectively, it is stated, and instead of Severs paying $15 an acre, he should have paid $37.50 an acre difference.

The petition asks that the court appoint commissioners to get a true and accurate valuation of the land at the time of the death of Hugh M. Severs and to construe and determine his will. This suit will come up at the January term of circuit court.

Files Suit for Divorce.

Orn C. Morehouse filed today suit for divorce against Lula M. Morehouse. The petition states they were married at Atchison, Kan., Aug. 3, 1907, and lived together until August, 1919. Indignities are the grounds for the divorce. Charles F. McCaffrey is the attorney for the plaintiff.

COLD WAVE COMING AND COAL BIN LOW

WEATHER FORECASTER BRINK IS WIRED OF EXPECTED CHANGE

FUEL ECONOMY NEEDED

No S. O. S. Calls Over the City Yet But May be Soon; City Hall Supply Is Low

Cold wave—b-r-r-r!—and the coal bin empty! Can you beat it?

Weather Forecaster J. R. Brink received notice at 3 o'clock this afternoon that a regular full-rigged cold wave was on its way, accompanied by fresh, strong northwest winds and a drop of 20 to 25 degrees by tomorrow morning.

With no change in the coal strike situation such word is liable to ruffle the placidity of the general public.

Mayor Garrett reports no distress signals in sight yet unless it would be at the city hall. There is only enough coal there to last possibly five days, and should the cold wave be more intensive than anticipated it will not last that long and some other provision will have to be made and the city headquarters temporarily changed.

The mayor urges every one in the city to use the strictest economy in the use of coal, which is the only way to aid in the present uncertainty — stretching the amount on hand to th limit.

No real trouble is looked for in Maryville for a week or ten days at least, but the reports from the strike today give no assurance for immediate future supply.

MRS. ELMER WOODS ON WAY TO WOUNDED BROTHER

Sister of Roy E. Martin Left Last Night for Casper; Martin's Condition Better

Mrs. Elmer Woods, a sister of Roy Martin, left last night for Casper, Wyo., on account of her brother's serious condition. Mrs. Woods received a letter yesterday afternoon from her father, Frank Martin, now a resident of Casper, stating that the condition of Roy Martin was slightly improved and there was some hope for his recovery. Mrs. Woods was accompanied by her young son.

H. S. FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS TARKIO FRIDAY

Team Undefeated So Far This Season —Change Made in Schedule— Richmond Challenged

A special assembly was called at the high school this morning to give the football team a rousing send-off for their game with Tarkio tomorrow afternoon at Tarkio.

The team has been undefeated so far this season, and they hope to carry this record throughout the remainder of the season. A slight change has been made in the schedule for the month. Instead of playing Savannah Thanksgiving day, a challenge has been sent to the Richmond team. The Savannah game will be played at a later date.

Those going to Tarkio tomorrow are Foreman, Miller, French, Barry, Allen, Moore, Clark, Boatman, Williams, Campbell, McPherron, Kirby, Hull, Carstens, King, Price and Coach Ziegler. They expect to bring home the long end of the score.

MORE RED CROSS WORKERS BUSY—NO REPORTS YET.

Work Progressing Well Over Township —No Account of Collections Yet Available

Mrs. F. S. King, director of the Red Cross membership drive for Polk township, reports an active worker in each of the twenty-three districts and the solicitations progressing nicely. No definite reports have yet been given in and the rainy weather of today will hold up work in the rural districts for a while.

A great enthusiasm has been evidenced in the township fields. When the schedule of solicitors was prepared according to the school districts, only two out of the twenty-three selected refused to serve and in these cases work for the individual was impossible and a substitute was easily named.

Four more workers for the city drive have been appointed by F. P. Robinson, chairman. They are Miss Persis Hunt, Miss Doris Goforth, Mrs. E. W. Heidemann and Mrs. E. T. Dale. A number of solicitors were out yesterday afternoon, but it was impossible so far to give any report of their success.

STRIKE MAY MEAN A LONGER FIGHT

NEITHER SIDE MAKING ANY DIRECT MOVE

INJUNCTION WILL STAND

Conditions Serious if Strike Continues Ten Days; Only One-third the Normal Output of Coal

Washington, Nov. 6.—With but forty-eight hours remaining before the formal hearing of the government petition for injunction against the officials of the United Mine Workers of America is called before Judge Anderson at Indianapolis, there is a strong feeling in all circles that something will happen to affect the settlement out of court.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss th efuture course of the government. Unless the strike comes to an end before next Saturday the government will ask that the restraining order now standing against the mine workers' officials be converted into a temporary injunction.

It was reported today that there is less than one-third the normal output of bituminous coal coming from the mines, and should this situation continue for the next ten days the country will see a return of lightless nights and the fuel conservation measures rivaling in strictness those of two years ago.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—A motion to vacate the injunction against the officials of the mine workers was to be filed in federal court here today, according to a statement made by the counsel for the mine leaders. This requires a filing two days in advance of the hearing of the government's application for injunction to be held Saturday.

"There is no reason why an agreement could not be reached in advance of the injunction hearing in the federal court here Saturday," Secretary-treasurer Green of the Mine Workers told the International News Service today. He further declared, "if all concerned use common sense—government, operators, miners—an agreement could be speedily reached."

That John Lewis, president of the Mine Workers union, does not share Green's optimistic view of the situation was apparent today. Although Lewis declined to comment on the possibility of opening negotiations in advance of Saturday's hearing.

Denver, Nov. 6.—Further deflections in the ranks of striking coal miners are claimed today by the operators. Union leaders declare the strikers are standing pat.

Arranging Peace Parley.

Helsingfors, Nov. 6.—The Esthonians and Bolsheviks are arranging for a peace parley to open November 9, according to information received from Riga today. The Esthonians were recently reported to be aiding Yudenitch's army and attacking Bolshevik defenses southeast of Petrograd.

American Crew at Rescue.

London, Nov. 6. — After an heroic struggle against the stormy weather on the high seas, the crew of the American steamer Modus rescued six hundred and fifty persons from the Indian liner Fazilka, which went aground off Nicobar Island, according to a dispatch today.

"Foreign Legion" Destroyed.

Copenhagen, Nov. 6.—The "foreign legion" fighting with General Yudenitch's anti-Bolshevik army southeast of Petrograd is virtually destroyed in a violent engagement around Gatchina, according to information here today from the front.

THE LAND OF TEARS.

Went "back home" last week to see
If things were the same as they used to be.
Got sort o' tired of city life—
Noise and crowding and ceaseless strife—
Yearned to look at the old gray town
Out at its elbows and running down.
Thought it would seem good 'cross the years,
Found instead 'twas a land of tears!
Gaps in the ranks of the boys I knew,
Girls mostly widows; only a few
Seemed to have lived and made their way;
Nobody nigh who cared to play.
Weren't even glad to have me come—
There just in time to remind of some
Grief and care that had grown between
Them and me since Time was green,
Black the color, mixed with blue
Where I had looked for a rosy hue;
My mind teemed with memories bright,
They saw only the darkest night.
Past full of gloom, no future at all,
Just sitting 'round to await the call
From the Angel of Death who'd paused next door,
Sighing and sighing of "Nevermore."
Came straight back to the crowd and noise,
The seething city and its joys,
Where life stays young despite its years,
Leaving forever the Land of Tears!

HAD THEIR REGULAR HOURS

All Summer Boarder Had to Do Was to Observe the Habits of the Pesky Flies.

A city man went for his vacation to a country hotel. There was a hammock in the grove at the back of the building, and one afternoon he climbed into it with pipe and book. But the flies tormented him unmercifully, so he climbed out again in disgust, determined to enter a protest.

"Look here, landlord!" he complained, as he entered the hotel. "What's the good of a hammock in such a fly-ridden spot as that grove?"

"Oh," said the landlord, "you didn't use the hammock during hammock hours."

"What are hammock hours?" asked the guest.

"Twelve to two, sir," said the landlord. "You'll find no flies in the grove then, sir."

"And why not?" demanded the puzzled guest.

"Because," said the landlord, "twelve to two is the luncheon period, and they're all in the dining room then."

Daylight Saving.

The continuous effort to repeal the "daylight saving" law recalls, perhaps, the first introduction of that character of legislation in congress.

It was nearly thirty years ago, when the fourth congressional district of Boston was represented by Mr. Joseph H. O'Neil, who succeeded the late Patrick Collins of Boston. It was perhaps at the session of 1890-2 that Mr. O'Neil introduced his bill which provided for turning the clocks ahead fifteen minutes on each of the four Sundays in April, until the full hour had been reached, and reversing the hands back again fifteen minutes each Sunday in September until the sun time had been restored. This scheme to conserve more daylight at the end of the working day received scarcely any consideration from the lawmakers at that time, so Mr. O'Neil's proposition was pigeonholed, but it seems that his conception of the division of the working hours in the spring and summer months possessed the elements of merit, for it went marching on and was finally enacted into law nearly thirty years after its first introduction.

Must Have a License.

My grandmother came from England when she was 24, writes a correspondent. She worked for a cousin who had a large farm. The hired man fell in love with her and they planned to be married secretly.

One Sunday night when the family were asleep they walked to the nearest town, seven miles, and roused the minister, but he told them they must have a license. Grandmother went back to the farm and her beau footed it to the county seat, thirty-five miles, and returned next day with the license.

After the family retired that night the couple stole away to town again, the minister opened the window, examined the license by candle light, called his wife and daughter to the open window for witnesses, and performed the ceremony with the bride and groom outside.

RESEARCH WORK.

Does a pretty girl shut her eyes when she is kissed?

I know little on that subject, but I certainly favor investigation and research work along those lines.

Might Be Arranged.

Professor (to old lady)—Madam, I would like to have your son join the oratorio society.

Old Lady (with pride)—Much obliged to you; but he don't know nothing about oratory. He never made a speech in his life; but he can sing, and if you've got a singin' class, I'd like fer him to jine that."

Fashionable Parent.

"Mention the names of some girls' schools."

"What's the idea?"

"I've got a girl at one of them and I want to write to her to come home."

LAUGHED AT REAL HEROISM

Soldier Insists Authorities Conferred Decoration for Deed That Was Merely Second Rate.

He had come back with the croix de guerre, but he would not talk about how he won it. Of course his family and friends knew the formal citation, but they wanted him to tell them the details, and he modestly and persistently evaded them.

"I think it's simply silly," declared an irate cousin in her teens. "What's the use of ducking and dodging, and pretending you're not a hero, when you know perfectly well you are?"

The worm turned. "Yes, of course I know I am," he assented coolly. "The trouble is, they didn't give me my cross for the right thing. Do you expect a fellow to talk about his heroism when he gets a decoration for doing what lots of other fellows did who weren't lucky enough to be noticed, and then finds the bravest thing he ever did, or ever expects to do, treated lightly or ignored altogether? At least, I was a hero once. Before we were ordered abroad, I was invited to luncheon by my colonel's daughter. Now, you know I am a country boy from an inland state. It was the first luncheon I'd ever attended—and the first time I'd ever been served raw oysters. I hate shellfish, and when I saw those six, soft, slimy, slithery horrors set before me I nearly fainted. But I didn't know whether anything much was to follow or not; and I couldn't decline a main dish under the eye of my hostess. I shuddered with disgust. I wasn't sure they would go down; I feared they might come up. But—I ate those oysters, all six, and smiled as I ate them! She told me so two years afterward, when I confessed. Now, I call that true heroism. But it wasn't what I got the cross for."

"Maybe," said the saucy young thing in her teens, "it's that you're going to get the girl for."

"No," sighed the unappreciated hero, "she agrees with the rest of you and General Mangin. She only laughs at my real claim to glory!"—Youth's Companion.

NEW SOURCE OF TURPENTINE

Tree in Central India to Be Looked To for Supply of Really Good Quality.

Turpentine oil and rosin are already being produced on a commercial scale in India by the distillation of pine rosin. A new source of supply which, though comparatively small, may be valuable, especially for Indian use, has now been found in frankincense or olibanum. This material is obtained by the natives by making incisions in the stems of Boswellia serrata, a tree widely distributed throughout the dry zone forests of Central India. The resinous substance which exudes from the cuts contains a kind of turpentine, a rosin and a gum.

Investigations of the methods of separating these constituents in a marketable form have been conducted since 1912 by the forest authorities in India in co-operation with the Imperial institute, and the results have been published recently in a paper by R. S. Pearson, forest economist, and Puran Singh, chemical adviser, at the Forest Research institute, Dehra Dun. The general conclusion reached, based on the results of numerous trials, is that the turpentine oil is equal to good quality American turpentine oil.

Abyssinian Likes American Styles.

"I would like to see Abyssinian women dress like American women," is a remark credited to Prince Nadoa, the head of the Abyssinian mission in this country. This may be merely a bit of oriental flattery or it may be an indication of the prince's bravery. It should be remembered, first, that the sovereign of Abyssinia is a woman, and a descendant of the queen whose elegance and beauty of costume dazzled King Solomon's court, and in the next place that in Abyssinia style does not change more than once every thousand years, and that for that length of time the life of a man is free from all pecuniary worries incident to changing fashions and new dresses. Without any intention of forecasting trouble for the prince, it might be suggested that if this story should precede him he will have some explanations to make either to the queen or to the husbands and fathers of Abyssinia.

Faith in Adversity.

Joe Fountain of Bootjack, Mich., was willing to plead guilty in court to the charge of making liquor, having a private still in his home. Prosecuting Attorney Lucas told the court that he tried to get a promise of reformation from Joe, a promise at least that he would refrain from drinking for the remainder of his life.

"Not me," was Joe's answer. "It might get wet again."

As Joe's infraction included only making a little spirits for his own use he was released on payment of the costs.—Daily Mining Gazette.

Rather Ominous.

Among the presents given to a rural bride was one from an old lady in the neighborhood with whom the bride and the groom were prime favorites.

Some years before the old lady had accumulated a number of cardboard mottoes, which she worked and framed as occasion arose.

In cheerful blues and reds, suspended by a cord of the same colors, over the table on which the other presents were gathered, hung this motto:

"Fight On; Fight Ever."

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Maryville resident has withstood the sternest of all tests.

Mrs. R. Snyder, 1008 E. Third St., says: I had pains across my kidneys for some time and couldn't rest well at night. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me great relief. The pain from my kidneys left, the feeling of languor disappeared and my health improved."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER Mrs. Snyder said: "It hasn't been necessary for me to use a kidney medicine for several years now, so I know Doan's Kidney Pills have given me permanent benefit. I gladly endorse this medicine, for I think highly of it."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Snyder had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gives Some Interesting Details of His Work Abroad to Students at Teachers College

In a recent talk at the State Teachers College assembly, Prof. Henry A. Foster, who returned to his work at the college in September after a long period of service with the "Y" in France gave some very interesting statements about the work there.

He said the Y. M. C. A. was criticised for many things that were done over there, but the Y. M. was not in the war to avaid criticism, but to give the best possible service to the boys. They provided entertainment and food for the boys and also were the only agency that served the prisoner of war. There were 10,000 workers in France and 70 of these lost their lives, 11 killed under fire. The Y. M. C. A. received much praise for the good work they did over there.

Quartet Had No Place to Go.

A quartet blew into Hopkins Wednesday noon "all dressed up and no place to go." The manager told the journal they were sent here to fill a chautauqua date made a year ago with Rev. Bellanger, then pastor of the Christian church, but could find no one here that seemed to know anything about it, and as there had been no advertising nor any arrangements for a hall or church, they could give no entertainment. The strange part is the same quartet blew into Maryville Tuesday and found similar conditions, so they joined hands with Hawaiians in an entertainment at a local theatre there. —Hopkins Journal.

Where Is Your Will?

IS IT IN YOUR MENTAL FILE OF UNFINISHED BUSINESS?

Death isn't a pleasant think to think of but it's a necessary thing to prepare for. The most important thing to arrange is the disposition of your estate and it is a thing that should never be put off "till tomorrow."

Absolute relief from all anxiety can be secured by making your will and leaving its administration in the hands of The Farmers Trust Co.

It is our business to handle estates efficiently and lawfully with unquestioned integrity, and as a trust company does not die—it will be here to handle your business wherea personal admini strator or executor might fail.

Comeand talk with us about this very important matter. We will be glad to help you in every possible way.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Tom Majors, deputy sheriff, who was shot in the arm and face, dying instantly.

Roy E. Martin, alleged member of a bootleg gang, who fired on the officers. Shot in the arm and three bullet holes in the body. Indicted on first degree murder charge.

George McKenzie, member of the raiding party, whose recovery is doubtful, following an operation at the state hospital. The weakness of his condition neecssitated suspension of probing the wounds made by the shotgun in his shoulder. He is said to be the victim of the shot fired by Martin.

Hugh B. Armstrong, charged with murder in the first degree on the death of Tom Majors.

Charles Moore, taxi driver and alleged "brains" of the bootleg organization, charged with first degree murder growing out of a technical complicity in the death of Majors.

Lawson Hallowell, a plumber's helper, charged with a technical charge in connection with the shooting. His connection is said to be slight.

H. J. Evans, a taxi driver, charged with complicity in connection with the undue interest he manifested when the sheriff's posse was forming.

"Daddy didn't do anything, did he?" was the query of one of the tiny children at the Martin home yesterday. Martin has a wife and seven children, besides his mother and father here. All are shocked over the terrible mishap.

"My financial condition was not the best. I had a large family and the offer of $10 a case to keep the liquor seemed like money from heaven for me. That's the cause of my connection with the affray," is Martin's story. He was silent about the shooting and the developments that led up to it.

"I would have been digging this liquor out long ago had I known it was there," said his mother to officers who were working in the Martin cellar Sunday morning. "I never knew him to drink. I can't see how he came to bring it here."

When the smoke of the tragedy had cleared away search was made for the liquor cache known to be located there, and it was revealed under several inches of soft dirt when the floor was ripped up in the new addition on the west of the shop. Stored in this building over the liquor were all kinds of plumbers' supplies and only by digging were the topmost boxes revealed.

During the course of the morning the entire supply was removed from the hole in the ground and transported to the court house basement in several large truck loads guarded by police officers, who assisted at the finish of the tragedy and remained on the job at the request of the sheriff's office.

The booze is said to represent approximately half of the shipment stored here by Montana parties and stolen by J. T. Land, who was arrested in Denver and is now out on bond to secure his appearance in district court on a charge of stealing oil stock and Liberty bonds, the charge being a technical one designed to cover his liquor operations as well.

Feeling over Majors' death ran high Sunday, but no untoward expression of this feeling developed on the part of an enraged public, who will urge that speedy justice be done.

WET MAJORITY LARGE IN OHIO ON PARTIAL RETURNS

Results on Four Prohibition Proposals Are in Doubt Today; Tendency to "Come Back"

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—Yesterday's "dry" victory is today in doubt. Old John Barleycorn apparently was snowed under overwhelmingly, but estimates received today is showing a surprising tendency to "come back."

Complete and incomplete returns from thirty-nine out of the eighty-eight counties, representing slightly more than one-third of the precincts in the state, received at the office of Secretary of State Smith last night showed the four prohibition proposals giving wet majorities of from 39,000 to 63,000.

Officials of the secretary of state's office pointed out that practically all of the strong wet strongholds of the state are represented in the above figures by complete votes, while the rural counties, the strongholds of the drys, are yet to be heard from.

Chief Statistician Johnson of the secretary's office continued last night to predict that all four proposals had been carried by the drys, some of them by from 50,000 to 75,000. He admitted, however, that later returns show that the wets made a gain of 16,000 votes in that city, as compared with last year, when the wets polled a majority of 18,000. This year their majority was 34,000. The drys made a small gain of more than 2,000 in Cincinnati and Hamilton county.

Edwards a Winner.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Unofficial returns from all but six districts in the state for governor give Edwards a plurality of 14,078. The total vote for Edwards was 216,244, and Bugbee received 202,166. The missing districts are in Cape May and Gloucester counties.

Contest Ritchie's Victory.

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, was elected governor of Maryland yesterday by a plurality of 342, on the face of unofficial, but virtually complete returns today.

Chairman Tait of the Republican state committee, refused to concede Mr. Ritchie's election and claims that Harry W. Nice, the Republican candidae, is elected, but does not give any figures.

Too Much For Her.

Unobserved and unannounced the president of a church society entered the composing room of a newspaper just in time to hear these words issue from the mouth of the boss printer:

"Billy, go to the devil and get him to finish that 'murder' he began this morning. Then 'kill' William J. Bryan's youngest grandchild, and dump the 'Sweet Angel of Mercy' into the hell-box. Then make up that 'Naughty Parisian Actress' and lock up 'The Lady in Her Boudoir'."

Horrified, the good woman fled, and now her children wonder why they are not allowed to play with the printer's youngsters.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Mrs. Robinson Hostess.

The M. G. R. Sunday school class of the First Christian church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. B. Robinson. All members of the class are urged to be present.

To Play at Conception.

St. Mary's dramatic club of this city has been engaged by the Rev. Father Joachim to present one of their plays, "A True American," at the hall of Conception Junction Sunday evening.

This play is one of the best entertainments ever given by the club, which has presented some good ones during the time it has been organized.

Mr. and Mrs. William Job returned this morning from a week's visit in Knoxville, Ia., with their son, O. L. Job ,and Mr. Job's cousins, O. P. Wright and J. B. Gamble, and their families.

Mrs. Samuel Forrest of Lake Geneva, Wis., who has been the guest for a few weeks of her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Martin and family, left this morning. She was accompanied as far as St. Joseph by Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. William Wallis, Jr., left this morning for a visit in Kansas City with her mother.

Phil Colbert Elected Delegate.

Philip Colbert, who is attending the school of mines at Rolla, Mo., has been elected by his class as a delegate to the St. Patrick's convention to be held at Columbia, Mo., Dec. 5 and 6.

The convention intends making the St. Patrick's stunt a national affair in engineering schools.—Green and White Courier.

Boston Doughnut Beats Pretzel.

Boston, Nov. 5.—A Boston doughnut has been found to have 256 calories in it and beats a pretzel, which has only 189, according to Dr. F. G. Benedict, of the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institute, Boston. This well known chemist has been studying food values for some time and asserts the doughnut furnishes a large number of calories at a relatively low price.

Miss Ruth Hankins will leave tomorrow morning for Ada, Okla., to begin her work as head of the violin department of the State Normal School.

Closing Out Sale

After being in business here for almost 47 years, we have decided to retire by December 15th of this year: All our stock and fixtures are for sale at a price way below wholesale cost. We have better suits than can be bought at any price—the manufacturers do not make them as good nowadays. Come early and buy what you need as goods are still going higher and will not come down for several years. I shall be glad to see you all and assure you that you will get good treatment and that I will be as reliable and truthful as I have in the past. Respectfully,

TOOK FOXES IN NEAT TRAP

Probably Only Instance on Record Where Youngsters Were Caught in a Horse Blanket.

How four foxes were caught in a horse blanket is a quaint tale told by R. A. Hutmacher in the Hunter-Trader-Trapper of Columbus, O.

"I happened to be driving south of Rapatee, Ill., with the implement dealer of that town, making business calls on several farmers of that section, when, to my surprise, I saw on a very steep hill in the distance several young foxes playing about as if no human was near," says Mr. Hutmacher. "My partner and I decided to try our luck at catching them, so driving on a little farther, we tied our horses and set out across the field after them.

"When we reached the hole, they were all up over the hill chasing each other, so telling my companion to go around the hill and chase them my way I threw a horse blanket over their hole and waited. As they came rushing for the hole I raised one end of the blanket just enough to hide myself and at the same time form a trap of it for them to run into.

"They all got to the hole about the same time, when I threw one end of the blanket over them, the other end being over the hole. In the excitement I succeded in catching all four in the folds of the blanket.

"We went back to the buggy and drove to town, my companion taking two of the foxes and I two. Possibly the explanation of our good luck is the fact that the foxes were not much more than six weeks old when captured."

WHERE THEY FOUND THE HAT

Joe's Use of Brother Agent's Headgear, to Say the Least, Had Not Improved It.

Attorney General Palmer instructed the New York branch of the department of justice recently to gather all the German propaganda evidence it had accumulated to prosecute enemy aliens during the war and forward it to Washington, where it could be stored in the state department vaults. The books, papers and documents were placed in a wooden case five feet high, four feet wide and two feet deep, which was put in a special baggage car accompanied by two special agents of the department.

One of the agents became tired of sitting watching the case and said he would take a nap on it. He turned the case over on its side and laid down on it, using his handbag as a pillow, while the other laid on the floor of the car alongside the big box. In the morning Special Agent Joe, who slept on the box, awoke and found Agent Bill searching all through the car for something. He asked what he had lost and Bill said that he certainly had a hat when he entered the car but it was missing. They could not find the hat and finally turned the case right end up and there lay Agent Bill's new fall derby under it mashed perfectly flat. Tableau.

Regulating Immigration.

Until 1882 congress did not make any law restricting foreign immigration. On the other hand, everything was done to encourage immigration without regard to its character or quality. In 1882 a law was made excluding escaped convicts, idiots and persons likely to become a public charge. Since then laws have been passed excluding persons afflicted with any dangerous contagious diseases, persons guilty of serious crime in their native country, anarchists, paupers and professional beggars. Foreigners deterred by law are sent back to the country from which they came. During 1910 the report of the commissioner of immigration shows 5,256 aliens, morally, mentally or physically below the standard were returned, 4,257 of whom were debarred from entering, the remainder having been arrested and expelled.

To Breed Rabbits for Their Fur.

An organization known as the Beveren club has been formed in London, England, to breed rabbits for their fur. The scheme is being run on co-operative lines.

The blue Beveren and the Havana rabbits are the strain which the club intends to rear. The fur of the blue Beveren is of lavender blue and is long, lustrous, fine and silky. That of the Havana is of a rich chocolate color and is thick, fairly long and fine.

It is hoped to produce from these rabbits natural furs the color of which will not fade.

Women Build Roads.

Five hundred Armenian women employed by the American Red Cross have built 100 miles of stone roads and reconstructed several steel bridges in this section within the last four months, an Associated Press dispatch from Marash, Mesopotamia, says. The roads were rebuilt in order to facilitate transportation of Red Cross supplies. There were no male laborers to be employed, so Capt. Edward Bickel of Seattle, who had charge of the engineering work, engaged the women, who were glad to have employment of any kind.

Wastage of Coal.

In a statement to Pennsylvania householders urging sifting of anthracite ashes, the Anthracite Operators' association says mining experts estimate that an average home wastes about three buckets of coal a week by not sifting, the loss a month being about $2.

REVENGE TAKEN BY ANIMALS

Story on Record of Huge Mastiff That Killed Thoughtless Groom at First Opportunity.

Careful observers have put on record some very extraordinary instances of dogs and other animals which have remembered injuries put upon them, and have eventually retaliated, says London Answers.

There is a terrible story on record of a dog, a huge mastiff, kept as a watchdog by a Staffordshire gentleman. The great brute was kept chained in the stable yard, and during the very hot weather one of the grooms, noticing the creature panting with heat, threw a bucket of cold water over him.

A week later the dog was loose when the same man entered the yard. He sprang upon him and caught him by the throat and killed him.

A touching little episode happened a few years ago in a Worcester village. A boy was the proud owner of a very handsome pair of fox terriers, named Mick and Jerry. Jerry went off one day into a wood near by and tackled a badger, which killed him. Raymond, his master, went out to look for him, but could not find him. But two days after Mick was found mourning over the dead body of his companion.

He was brought back. One day he did not return. His master searched and found him laying dead, his teeth in the throat of the badger, which was also killed.

An amusing incident was that of an Indian elephant whose revenge on a new mahout whom he took a dislike to was rather funny. He picked him up and deposited him in the branches of a thorn tree.

NO NEED FOR FURTHER TALK

Argument Had Convinced Man That Arctic Expedition Was Just the Place for Him.

A middle-aged man, with what appeared to be a load on his mind, visited the arctic steamer just before it started on the expedition, and seemed greatly interested in what he saw.

"Say," he said to the officer on deck, "I'd like to go with you on this expedition of yours."

"It's awfully cold up there," remarked the officer, discouragingly.

"I don't care for that."

"You have very little to eat, and you might starve to death."

"That wouldn't be pleasant," observed the visitor.

"I should say not," returned the officer. "And you might be eaten by your comrades."

"And then," continued the officer, "you wouldn't see your wife for three years, and possibly longer. You know you can't take her with you."

"Oh!" returned the would-be explorer, after a long pause, "then you can put my name down on your books. Your last argument captures me."

France Seeks Mauritius.

There is a movement in France to ask Great Britain for the return of Mauritius, the Beloved Isle of France, which was lost in 1810. It is contended that, in spite of being under British rule for over a hundred years, the island is still essentially French, and that the people desire union with their mother country.

Great Britain has no particular reason for keeping the island, says the Newcastle Chronicle. It has no strategic or economic importance, nor has it any sentimental associations, so far as Great Britain is concerned. For the French, on the other hand, it is the place to which many of their nobles emigrated, and is the island which Bernardin St. Pierre immortalized in his idyl, "Paul and Virginia."

The islanders gave proof of their feeling for France by sending many of their sons to fight in the French army.

Labor and Christenings.

W. Wallace Alexander, associated with the Elkins estate and a leading light in the Orpheus club, at a campfire gathering was humorously describing his troubles at a Pennsylvania coal mine which he was seeking to put on a paying basis.

"The miners were getting out coal two days a week—the other five days were devoted to christenings.

For every christening the whole neighborhood took a day to prepare, a day to celebrate and a day to recover.

Finally the problem was solved by hiring a brass band, arranging a parade and having all the christenings take place on the same magnificent, uproarious, welkin-ringing day.

Powerful Lens of English Make.

The most powerful lens used in aerial photography during the war, it is said, was made in Birmingham, England. It was 6½ inches in diameter and had a focal length of 36 inches. The power and clear definition of this lens were such that when used in an airplane it gave good visibility and detailed information of what was happening five miles below it. It is said that the photographer could easily detect the presence of barbed wire from a height of three miles, and movements of troops that had been effected under cover of darkness were likewise traceable by the experts. Birmingham manufacturers have been so successful in making lenses that they believe they can compete with Germany, which has long had a monopoly of high-grade manufactures of that kind.

COAL SITUATION BECOMING ACUTE

REPORTS OF DEALERS EVERY WHERE SHOW SHORTAGE

MISSOURI MAY SUFFER

Cold Wave Over State Causes Heavy Run on Supply; Urge Appointment of Fuel Administrator

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—With telegraphic appeals from dealers all over the state piling up in huge stacks in the office of the Regional Coal Commission, today—the fifth day of the great nationwide coal strike—found Missouri virtually dependent on a coal rationing system for its fuel.

Reports from dealers in every section told of shortages and urged that coal already ordered by them, but held up on the tracks by orders of the Railroad Administration in Washington, which is handling fuel control during the emergency, be rushed to them at once. Others pleaded that immediate apportioning of the available supply be made and that they be alloted such quantities as could be spared for their communities. Many of the appeals told of the closing down of industries from lack of fuel—others stated that families were suffering already as the result of the cutting off of the supply of fuel.

The coal commission, which is operating under the supervision of Regional Railways Director B. F. Bush, with P. H. Greenlaw, secretary of the Fifth and Ninth Districts Coal Bureau, as secretary, was delivering coal in limited quantities, this morning to dealers who proved the most urgent need. Dealers were urged to use their salesmen as investigators and to sell coal only to persons who were really in need and to be careful of allowing fuel to reach individual consumers, or industries, who had coal on hand and were trying to increase their supply. A careful check of the coal held on the tracks in the region was being made. It was believed that, inasmuch as the railroads, which are first on the priority list of consumers, are understood to have sufficient for their present needs, most of this coal would go to preference list.

In the meantime the first attempt at conservation of fuel in the state was in force this morning. Director Bush had issued orders curtailing train service in the Region. The order, as yet, applies only to work trains which are not absolutely essential in keeping the roads of the region in running order. A large number of railroad repairmen, and some train men, were thrown out of work over the state as a result.

With a run on the coal supply as a result of the cold wave which struck Missouri yesterday, coal dealers are becoming apprehensive that some of the thousands of tons of coal held up on the tracks by the confiscation order might be allowed to slip from Missouri to other sections of the country, were endeavoring to have the State Fuel Administration of wartime days, reorganized to supervise the distribution of fuel in the state. They were awaiting an answer today to a telegram to Fuel Administrator Garfield, in Washington, in which it was urged that he reappoint former Lieut Governor Walter Crossley, as State Fuel Administrator. The opinion was expressed that by this means the Regional Coal Commission, could be prevented from diverting coal in this district to railroads in other localities.

It was declared in the telegram to Dr. Garfield that the situation in the state was becoming acute.

Cows Give More Milk When Milked to Music; Bossie Prefers Classics and Pianos to Phonograph

The following is from this week's Hopkins Journal:

Our music dealer, A. C. Burnet, is jubilant over the results of a series of tests to determine whether cows would give more milk if milked within hearing of music, conducted at the Electrical Exposition, New York City, last Saturday by H. M. Harvey, in charge of the Electrical Dairy Exhibit. The cows tested were thoroughbred Guernseys and Holsteins, and the tests proved that the animals were induced to give a greater amount of the lacteal fluid when milked while the music was being played. Classical selections were most appreciated by the thoroughbreds. One cow gave 45 quarts of milk in 24 hours; later, under the influence of music by Mozart and Beethoven, which she seemed to prefer, she gave a little more. The animals were milked every six hours during the test. The cows preferred pianos to phonographs. Under the influence of phonograph music their yield of milk was only 16 per cent above their average.

The high cost of living makes it imperative that every man put forth his best efforts and if the farmers of the Hopkins vicinity want to get more milk and a better test, they should order a player piano or a phonograph at once and there is no better place to buy them than at the Hopkins Music Store. Mr. Burnett will be glad to give you a demonstration. Call any time.

A $4.50 SUIT

The wool that goes into a man's suit that costs—these days—$50 to $75, brings the farmer who raised the sheep only $4.50, according to the official statement of the National Associated Wool Growers! This is one more bit of the evidence which is presenting almost weekly that somewhere in the mysterious journey of food and clothing materials from grower to consumer someone is getting more profit than is fair to either farmer or user.

The day of home-carded wool, homespun cloth and homemade garments is past—if it weren't, every one of us would keep a sheep for his winter clothes. But we can try to find the profiteers who pay the farmer $4.50 and charge the consumer $50, and eliminate them—cutting some of the h. c. l. and bringing the farmer and the city man into closer and more friendly relations. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN aims to give to every farmer a broader outlook on his own business; to help him to get his just share of the consumer's dollar. GOOD WHEN ICE IS SCARCE

Refrigerator That Will Keep Food From Spoiling May Be Constructed at Small Cost.

An iceless icebox that anyone may set up in his cellar has been perfected at the Syracuse Kitchen as a result of experiments at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. It is estimated that it will cost $11 if made by a carpenter and about $3.75 if made at home by one handy with tools.

A. R. Mann, director of the college, describes the homemade refrigerator as follows:

"The iceless refrigerator depends on the principle that evaporating water has a cooling effect. It is simply an open framework of shelves surrounded by wet cloth. It should be kept in a shady place where air is in motion. The shelves, the bottom and the four supporting posts should form an open framework covered with wire screen. The top is solid wood and supports an enameled pan. The whole rests on the four short legs of the framework in another similar pan. The front is hinged as a door.

"All four screened sides are covered with Canton flannel, smooth side out, buttoned on. The buttons are sewn on a tape which is tacked to the frame so as to engage the buttonholes in the cloth. This plan of buttoning permits the use of a duplicate cover and allows for a weekly washing. Fastened around the top are four flaps of cloth which extend up over the top into the upper pan of water. They serve as wicks or siphons to keep the Canton flannel cover moist.

"If practicable, the whole affair should be white, as that refracts heat and light. The screening should be of a non-rusting wire, such as copper or zinc."

For a size of 4 feet 8 inches high and 2 feet square, with shelves 11 inches apart, the following materials are required.

Three yards of 24-inch wide screen, one pint of white paint for first coat and one pint of white enamel, 50 linear feet of three-quarter by three-inch stuff for framework, 16 feet of one-inch lumber one foot wide for shelves (unless shelves are made of wire), and 46 linear feet of molding; hinges, catch, buttons, tape, nails, tacks and 13 yards of 30-inch Canton flannel, which will make two covers.

Such a refrigerator will not cool things to anywhere near freezing point, but in the hottest days of summer those at Syracuse maintained a temperature of 54 degrees, which is at least relatively cold.

Child's Marvelous Escape.

A child fell out of the Aberdeen express when it was traveling at full speed the other day near Drumlithie, Scotland. A Port-Glasgow family named Crobie, grandmother, mother, and two little girls, traveled in the train. One of the children stumbled against the carriage door, which opened, and she fell out. The frantic mother pulled the communication cord, and the train was stopped. Two passengers and the grandmother and mother got out and ran along the line a considerable distance. Great was the surprise and relief of all when they met the child running along the track after the train, cut and bruised about the face and legs, but not seriously injured.

Hidden Beauties of St. Sophia?

What of St. Sophia at Constantinople? Many persons, observing how the program of after-war redemption is working out, are asking what disposition is to be made of the beautiful building erected by Emperor Justinian, which for nine centuries was a Christian church but for nearly five centuries has been a Mohammedan mosque.

Already rival claimants to ownership have appeared on the scene, but an issue which some may think more important than the ecclesiastical one is the artistic one. An Italian writer says: "Reopen the doors and windows that have been bricked up, scrape away the plaster which covers wall and roof, and, behold! the basilica whole and new."

G. O. P. DRYS RALLY SUPPORT SPENCER

RURAL MISSOURI COHORTS WILL EXCEED 110,000

IN FACTIONAL STRUGGLE

Dry Republicans Issue Ultimatum to Favor No Candidate Who Has Aided Liquor Interests

By A. T. Edonston

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 5.—Dry Republicans out in rural Missouri numbering in excess of 110,000, it is freely stated here, are lining up solidly to voice opposition to the crucifying of United States Senator Selden P. Spencer by the powerful and extremely wet St. Louis G. O. P. machine for the reason solely, that he voted with his party in the Senate on Tuesday, Oct. 28, to put in force, imediately, wartime prohibition, and for the enabling act for the last Federal constitutional amendment.

A further ultimatum from dry Republican of the state is to the effect that they will not suppport any candidate, either at the August primary, or, in case of success, at the November election, who represented the John Barleycorn wing of the party or favors any doctrine of principles of the G. O. P. that for the disciples of Sacchus to carry out their plan of defeating Senator Spencer for renomination will merely turn the coming contest into a struggle for supremacy between the prohibitionists and the anti of their party and that all Missouri drys will stand together firmly for Senator Spencer at the August primary regardlessly of whether his nomination finally means that he will lose St. Louis by 25,000 at the election of November.

"Spencer or no Republican Senator from Missouri in 1920" is the slogan which is already being freely uttered by Republicans in such G. O. P. heavily dry counties as Grundy, Adair, Harrison, Benton, Andrew, Caldwell, Butler, Camden, Cedar, Christian, Crawford, Dalas, Hickory, Holt, Howell, Laclede, Lawrence, Mercer, Miller, Montgomery, Morgan, Ozark, Polk, Putnam, Stone, Taney, Webster and Wright and thousands of Republicans in the counties which are heavily democratic, it is iterated over and over again, stand ready to take up this rallying cry whenever the primary campaign fully opens.

The announced intention of the powerful but dripping St. Louis G. O. P. machine to throw sop to Republicans with prohibit inclination to make amends for the retirement of Senator Spencer through allowing their leaders to select between Lieutenant Colonel Dwight F. Davis, Judge H. B. Caulfield Lawyer James L. Minn, Alderman Louis P. Alco, Charles Nagel, National Committeeman Jacob L. Babler, all of St. Louis, and W. L. Cole of Onion, Chairman of the Republican State Committee and Arthur M. Hyde of Trenton, all men of high standing, as to to which small 63 the party senatorial nominee, has only had the effect of strengthening the determination of the drys that it is either to be Senator Spencer over again or "no Republican senator from Missouri in 1920".

Moreover, it is vouched that an additional compromise offer that rural Republicans can select Editor E. E. McJimsey of Springfield, Superintendent. Samuel A. Baker of Jefferson City, Arthur M. Hyde of Trenten, A. L. Reaves of Kansas City, Samuel P. O. Fallon of Holt county, the speaker of the last house, or any other Republican of integrity and class, for first place on the state ticket, has not overshadowed an unconquerable belief which is general in all dry sections of the state that the liquor element of their party in St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Joplin, Springfield, Jefferson City, Hannibal, Sedalia, Cape Girardeau, St. Charles, Moberly and other cities of Missouri classed as cases until October 30, last, have combined in a demand that Senator Spencer be eliminated from Republican politics in Missouri forever for his audacity in voting dry, accompaned by the ultimatum that unless this request is fully complied with all electoral financial and other support in future for the party will be witheld by the John Barleycorn forces.

Spencer, now that the liquor element of the state is in a combine to politically annihiliate him, would give the the prohibition cause a set back in the state equal to the one it suffered at the election of 1918 when the dry constitution amendment swept Missouri, including Kansas City and St. Joseph and all small wet cities, with a majority of 14,262 only to finally lose by 72,960 through the heavy St. Louis wet vote. The dry forces of the state then and ever since have contended that gross frauds were perpetuated in St. Louis that day. The final expressed opinion of rural dry Republicans on which is so deeply rooted it cannot be eradicated, is that to allow St. Louis erstwhile liquor manufacturers and dealers and their army of "barflies" and "suds quaffers" to sacrifice the Senator to the deity, Bacchus, for voting to make the country a second Sahara desert, would only give that element fresh, but useless, hopes and prolong the fight to regain the place in the sun that the industry now stands deprived of.

News Print Paper Shortage.

The newspaper business is facing the most severe shortage of news print paper that has occurred in the history of the industry. No one is able to predict what the price will be, or whether any newspaper will get an an adequate supply of paper. It is certain, with the tremendous increase in the volume of advertising which is universal throughout the United States, that more paper is being consumed at the present time than is being manufactured.

It is hinted that a good many newspapers, either from lack of supply or from inability to meet the 1920 prices, will be forced out of business. As it is, certain newspapers will be forced to curtail paper to a greater degree than at any time during the war.

The Chicago Tribune yesterday announced on the first page that hereafter the week day issues of the Chicago Tribune would be limited to thirty-two pages in size and that advertising would be left out to meet this schedule. The Tribune says: "By reason of the severe shortage of newsprint throughout the country, and the consequent obligation of newspapers everywhere to conserve paper, commencing Monday, November 3, the Chicago Tribune will resrict the average size of its daily issues to thirty-two pages until the need for conservation is past." This is a radical announcement on the part of the Chicago Tribune, as the daily issues of the paper have been running thirty-six, thirty-eigt and forty pages. The Tribune has the money to buy all the paper that it can use, no matter what the price, and the attitude of the Chicago Tribune is exceedingly commendable and in the interest of the whole newspaper fraternity.—Des Moines Capital.
